REPUTATION MANAGEMENT EXPECTATIONS

Community Sales Directors and Executive Directors should include the following elements in their online reputation management strategy:

- Respond to online reviews directly in your Reputation.com portal.
For access to Reputation.com, please contact social@pacs.com
- Respond to online reviews within 24 hours of receiving the review.
- Work to maintain a 4-star rating or above.
- Connect with your RDO and/or the Marketing Team ASAP should you receive a concerning negative review for help in crafting a response.
 - Please note: While we can “flag” online reviews for removal, most of the time, these reviews will not be removed. It is always in your best interest to connect with your support team right away to craft a response to any negative or concerning reviews and work under the assumption that the review will not be removed.
- Regularly request online reviews from happy family members, residents and team members.

SOCIAL MEDIA EXPECTATIONS

Community Sales Directors and Executive Directors should include the following elements in their social media strategy:

- Know what social media channels you have for your community (also make sure you have access to these channels!)
- Plan and develop regular social media posts.
- Partner with all community leadership and residents to craft compelling content.
- Engage with customers on social media.
- Review current social media trends and incorporate them into your strategy.
- Ensure any residents and/or team members posted on social media have filled out a Media Release Form.
- Regularly review analytics and performance.

Social Media Content Goals

Keep up with the competition — more and more senior living communities are getting online. Having a social media presence will help legitimize your business and show that you stay current with industry trends.

Connect with residents/families — family members want to know that their loved ones are safe, happy, and living life to the fullest. Sharing photos and videos of residents on social media (with their permission) can foster peace of mind and improve customer satisfaction.

Tell a story to prospects — sharing positive resident experiences doesn't just make families happy. Photos and videos of people in your community enjoying themselves tell a compelling story to prospects. Giving them a glimpse into what life in your community is really like will help them visualize themselves living there.

Facebook and Instagram Guidelines

Best to have the sites linked, so content can be shared on both platforms simultaneously.

Ideal posting goal of 1-3 posts per week.

Canva is your best friend for content generation. Your community should have their own Canva account.

Be sure to utilize Meta Facebook Planner to preschedule posts on both platforms.

Keep posts fun and simple, try to incorporate things like trends, national holidays, etc.

Short-form videos are some of the most engaging content options.

Don't be afraid to explore Facebook Live. Some Live streaming ideas include:

- Virtual tour of your community
- Interactive interviews with your team and residents
- Community activities and events
- Q&A Session

TikTok Guidelines

Ideal posting goal of 1-3 posts per week.

Ideal video length goal of 21-34 seconds.

Videos made with trending sounds and themes perform the best. Always consider how current TikTok trends can relate back to your community and senior living.

Stay mindful of how what you are posting reflects your community and its culture.

Utilize trending and industry-specific hashtags.

Reporting Terms of Use Violations

All social media messaging platforms have a process through which to report users who violate their terms of use. If you believe that comments made about your community or team on a social media platform violate its terms of use, do not hesitate to go through their process to register a complaint.

Below are the processes for some common media platforms:

Facebook: Report a post: Go to the post you want to report. Click more in the top right of the post. Click Report post. To give feedback, click the option that best describes how this post goes against our Community Standards. Click Next. Depending on your feedback, you may then be able to submit a report to Meta. For some types of content, we don't ask you to submit a report, but we use your feedback to help our systems learn. Click Done.

Instagram: If you have an Instagram account, you can report a profile or content on Instagram that doesn't follow our Community Guidelines.

How to report a post through Feed:

- Click more actions in the top right of the post.
- Select Report and follow the on-screen instructions.

You can also report a profile for posting content it shouldn't be, pretending to be someone else, or for being a child under the age of 13. Keep in mind that your report is anonymous, except if you're reporting an intellectual property infringement. The account you reported won't see who reported them.

Google: To report abuse directly from a Google Site, click Report abuse at the bottom of the page. You can report behavior that you consider to be a violation of Google's Terms of Service or program policies. Violations include:
